C1 CHARTS

Share, comparison and composition

DONUT, FOR A SHARE OF A WHOLE

COLUMNS, FOR COMPARING A HANDFUL OF VALUES

STACKED COLUMNS, FOR COMPOSITION OVER TIME

WATERFALL, FOR A BRIDGE BETWEEN TWO NUMBERS

C2 CHARTS

Position, trend, flow and geography

TWO BY TWO, FOR POSITIONING OPTIONS

TREND, FOR A MEASURED SERIES AND A FORECAST

FUNNEL, FOR A CONVERSION OR A FILTER

TILE MAP, FOR VALUES BY COUNTRY

A tile map carries a value per country without a licensed outline and without making small countries invisible. Each square is one country, the shade is the value.

low to high

C3 CHARTS

Two shares at once, and what moves the answer

MARIMEKKO, FOR SHARE WITHIN SHARE

Column width is the market, segment height is the share inside it. The accent marks the only cell worth arguing about, a large share of a small market.

TORNADO, FOR WHAT THE ANSWER TURNS ON

Sorted widest first, so the eye stops where the drivers stop mattering. Below the fourth row, nothing changes the decision.

C4 CHARTS

A plan that shows its dependencies, a size that shows its arithmetic

GANTT, FOR A PLAN WHERE SOMETHING WAITS ON SOMETHING ELSE

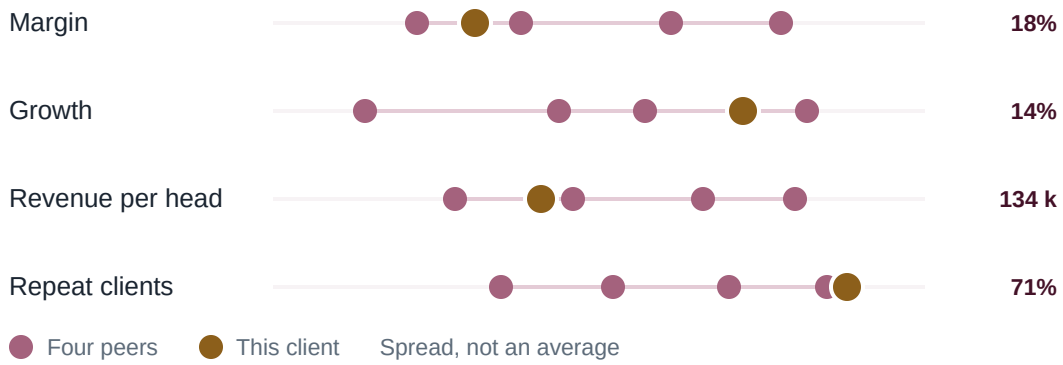

The connectors are the argument. Rollout does not start in Q3 because the calendar says so, it starts because the gate clears.

SIZING LADDER, FOR A NUMBER YOU WILL BE ASKED TO DEFEND

DOT PLOT, FOR WHERE YOU SIT AGAINST THE FIELD

A1 ARCHETYPE

The one slide a reader keeps, so it carries the whole argument

| | |
|---|---|
| SITUATIONWhat is true today | The client holds a strong position in a market that is no longer growing, and has done so for four years. |
| COMPLICATIONWhat changed | Two competitors moved first and now quote a price we cannot match at our cost base, which takes the next renewal cycle with them. |
| ANSWERWhat we recommend | Move the standard service to a machine-assisted process and keep the judgement work priced as it is. |
| BECAUSEWhat makes it hold | It closes the price gap on 61 per cent of volume, needs no new licence, and the pilot is reversible inside one quarter. |

THE ASK Approve the pilot budget and the Q3 gate. Nothing else is decided today.

Situation, complication, answer, because, ask. The answer row is the only one in the brand colour, because a summary with four emphases has none. Four rows is the ceiling. A fifth row means you are holding two summaries.

A2 ARCHETYPE

One question split into parts that do not overlap and leave nothing out

Why has margin fallen four years running?

Price, cost or mix. Nothing else can move it.

Are we charging less?

Realised price, not list price

- Discount depth by segment and by deal size
- Share of work won on price alone

Does the work cost more?

Hours per engagement, fully loaded

- Hours per standard engagement, three year trend
- Rework and review loops as a share of hours
- Seniority mix on routine work

Has the mix shifted?

Toward the thinner service lines

- Revenue share by line, weighted by margin
- New logos against renewals

The outlined branch is the one the evidence supports, so the audience knows where the next slide goes. Three branches is the limit at this size: a fourth drops the type below the floor.

A3 ARCHETYPE

Where the audience is, in one look

03

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 01 | The question and why it matters now | 3 min |
| 02 | What the market already does | 4 min |
| 03 | Our recommendation | 6 min |
| 04 | What it costs and what it returns | 5 min |
| 05 | Risks and the first ninety days | 4 min |
| 06 | The decision we are asking for | 3 min |

The dot carries done against still to come, so the distinction never rests on a grey too light to read from the back of the room. The minutes are for you, and they also tell a jury you have rehearsed.